iiNet boosts business flexibility with new 4G mobile fleet plans

15 May, 2013: iiNet today launched new 4G mobile fleet plans, giving business customers more flexibility to stay connected while doing business on the go, with the advantage of cost effective call plans.

Workforces are becoming more mobile, so iiNet's new flexible 4G mobile fleet plans allow business customers to stay connected for less. Starting from a very affordable $14.95 a month, the new plans include all mobile calls between staff on the same fleet plan and free voicemail. Like all of our products, these plans are designed to be simple to understand but most importantly, give business customers the ability to control costs.

"The plans are of course 4G, so they take into account the latest technology and offer customers some of the highest data speeds available on mobile," said iiNet Chief Business Officer, Greg Bader.

Flexible contracts are also important to iiNet business customers, so they can always be on the right plan that suits their business needs at any one time. iiNet has already made this easier for some time, with a move away from locked contracts so customers can chop and change as needed. iiNet mobile fleet plans can also be purchased as SIM only which means customers can enjoy awesome call and data value with the mobile phone of their choice.

"With faster mobile access on the 4G mobile network and the new Samsung 4G-ready mobile handsets, iiNet can offer a host of opportunities to help our customers be innovative in the way they manage and grow their business," said Greg.
